“ Darwin and I have treasured memories of our elementary school days together. Billy had a quiet presence and was always smiling. Rest In Peace.

“ I saw Bill and spoke to him at his apartment. We talked. He was still smoking cigarettes. Shortly after that talk he was put in the hospital for breathing issues. He was sent back to his apartment after a week or so and was put on oxygen. Getting the oxygen was a relief for him. He was scared to die by himself he said. Around the time of his birthday, he had taken a turn of depression. I think he was sad his kids hadn't come to see him. His brother had nothing to do with him. I didn't sugar coat it. I told him because of his drug use, that he had created this mess and had still not conquered the drugs that had taken his family from him. After this text communication, there was no more conversation between us. I dated Bill in high school, I remember the first time I met him, and I remember the day we stopped dating. RIP Bill, because of Jesus Christ our savior, you will get your wings.
